

Tropical Storm Michael Update

As many of you are already aware, Florida has declared a State of Emergency due to the forecasted Tropical Storm for later this week. This is going to create some logistical turmoil as trucks/drivers will have difficulty and delays navigating the wide path of storm. Our current plan will be to receive product only on the normal days of service. Based on safe travel conditions and driver/equipment availability, we will have product shipped and delivered as soon as feasibly possible.

We will continue to monitor weather conditions and take action, in the best interest of all shippers and customers, and communicate to you in the event there is a significant change with the path and/or severity of the storm.

Please anticipate that there will be departures later than “normal” and that the timing of deliveries and beyond to be affected. At this time it is too early to tell the extent of the delay but we will forward additional information as conditions become clear. Thank you for your cooperation and patience.

Our goal is to keep delays to a minimum while operating in a safe manner protecting the general public, drivers, equipment and flowers! Be safe in these upcoming conditions and please monitor our website at: www.primefloral.com
